Let us help

Aging and Disability Resource Centers (ADRC's) assists people (regardless of their income) to review their care needs and learn about their options for meeting those needs. Elderly people and people who have physical or developmental disabilities have choices regarding the programs and services which provide the care and supports in their homes or in the community. Determining what kind of long-term care you will need, both now and in the future, how to pay for it, and where to find it, can sometimes be difficult and confusing. The ADRC can help you work through the process.

ADRC's are operated by counties, and are not associated with any businesses or service providers. You can be sure that the information and guidance that you receive is unbiased, accurate, and specific to your needs.

Pre-Admission Consultation

The ADRC offers a Pre-Admission Consultation, to help you develop a long term health plan—tailored to your specific needs, preferences, and situation. We can help you identify and compare your long-term care options. Our Aging and Disability Resource Specialists are experts in knowing housing options and programs. Knowing what to look for in a facility and calculating what you can afford to pay, and for how long, isn't easy.

We are available to meet with you in your own home, at the Resource Center, or at another location that is convenient for you and your family. Call the ADRC at (920) 674-8734 to schedule a pre-admission consultation.

Is A Nursing Home Your Best Option?

There are many different long term care options available today.

Choosing the options that best meets your needs and particular situation isn't always easy.

The ADRC can help

Information and Assistance

• Information about and referrals to local services/providers to meet your needs.

Options Counseling

- Information about the choices you have about where to live, what kind of help you need, where to receive that care, and how to pay for it.
- Help you think through the pros and cons of various options in light of your situation, values, resources and preferences.

Benefits Counseling

- Provide information about government and other benefits that you may be eligible to receive— such as Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, Disability, Low-Income Housing, etc.
- Advocate for you when you have problems with these programs or other benefits.

Funding for Long Term Care

- Determine your eligibility for publicly funded long term care programs such as Family Care, IRIS, or Family Care Partnership.
- Can help you prepare your Medicaid application if eligible.

Consider all your Long-Term-Care Alternatives

The ADRC can help you learn about all the Assisted Living options offered in Jefferson County.

A pre-admission consultation with an ADRC Resource Specialist will help ensure that you choose the best option which also suits your specific needs and preferences.

Stay in your own home

A variety of services offered by your community and various volunteer organizations may help you stay in your own home longer. If you think this option might be suitable for you, our Aging and Disability Resource Specialists can provide more information about what services you might be eligible for.

Assisted Living Options

Group living arrangements come in various sizes and offer different levels of care for people who can no longer live independently, but who do not yet need a full care facility like a nursing home. Most assisted living facilities offer help with activities of daily living such as bathing, dressing and going to the bathroom. Services, the level of care offered and the type of resident they can accept, is determined by the type of licenses they hold. It is very important that you have a pre-admission consultation before selecting an assisted living option or facility in order to make the best match between the services you need and the services offered.

Funding for Long Term Care in a Nursing home

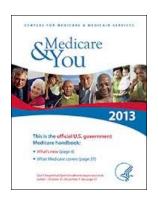

Nursing home care can be very expensive. Most people who enter nursing homes begin by paying for their care out of their own pocket. As you use your resources (like bank accounts, stocks, etc.) over a period of time, you may eventually become eligible for Medicaid.

If you have Medicare and need nursing home care ~ Medicare generally doesn't cover long-term stays (room and board) in a nursing home. Medicare covers skilled nursing facility (SNF) care in a Medicare-certified skilled nursing facility for a limited time after a 3-day qualifying hospital stay. For more information on Medicare coverage of skilled nursing facility care, get a free copy of the booklet "Medicare Coverage of Skilled Nursing Facility Care." see below
